WILBOR'S COMPOUND OF PURE COD LIVER OIL AND LIME.

A CURE FOR CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, GENERAL DEBILITY, AND ALL SCROFULOUS HUMORS.

THE Proprietor has succeeded (from directions of Professor Stone, in combining the Oil and Lime so perfectly that the taste of the Oil, which is so nauseous to persons generally, its entirely overcome, and it can be taken by the most delicate females with pleasure. And as regards the benefit of this article over the plear oil, the following case, by Prof. Stone, is sufficient to convince the most skeptical. The young lady was twenty four years of age.

"Her disease was one of unmixed pthisis, which had been expected to terminate in the course of a few months, fatally. The upper part of both her lungs were filled with tubercles; and in some places were beginning to soften.) The case was evidently a bad one. The treatment of Cod Liver Oil was at first used, but without marked improvement. The Phosphate of Lime was then administered with the oil, and the result, as in the case of many others, was soon apparent. The patient was rapidly getting well."

Caution.—On account of the great reputation of this Compound for all lung complaints, the subscriber would caution the afflicted against taking any except that manufactured by him, as he has the only recipe in the United States for combining the pure Oil with lime in a superior manner. Therefore as you value your health, purchase none except that manufactured by

BOUNTY LANDS, PENSIONS, &c.

All who were in the Aroostook War are entitled to Bounty Land for that service.

The widows or minor children of deceased officers or soldiers are entitled to the same amount of Bounty land the officer or soldier would be if living.

Widows and minor children of deceased Aroostook officers or soldiers are all entitled to Bounty Lands.

Pensions for all widows of Revolutionary officers or soldiers are obtained by virtue of an act of Congress passed Feb 3d, 1853. Thirty dollars is allowed for a commencement of a pension from the year 1800.

Pensions for all officers or soldiers who have been (of any time) wounded or disabled or contracted disease, while in the line of their duty, can be obtained for life for each officer or soldier, and in case of death, five years pension for their widow or minor children.

Five years additional pension can be obtained for widows and orphans who have been pensioned after the sets of July 2 1st, 1848, as Feb. 2 d, 1849.

Parties in every part of the State (or elsewhere) having claims for land, or pension, or claims of any kind, for their own services or the service of a relative, will have them promptly and properly attended to by addressing the subscriber, post paid. Write full particulars.

I have full copies of the muster rolls and records taken by myself from the originals in the War Department, in Washington, of nearly all who have done military service in this State, which enables me to decide, at once, whether a claim is valid.

Admirable Invention!

PATENT SELF HEATING SMOOTHING IRON!

MANY important improvements have been made since the beginning of the present century, tendering and facilitating the labor of men by machinery and other modern inventions, but females have been nearly neglected until the introduction of the Patent Self Heating Smoothing Iron, which will relieve them, in a very great degree, from the excessive and fatiguing labor of ironing, besides being a great saving of time and expense. This Iron combines economy, convenience, saving of labor, and 6 cents worth of charcoal supplies fuel for whole days constant ironing. Hard wood coal from the store will answer the same purpose. It can be used in any room or in the open air. Planters and Tailors' Irons are constructed upon the same principle, and possess equal superiority.

WHIG NOMINATION.

FOR GOVERNOR.

WILLIAM G. CROSBY.

In eight articles, at least, does the last number of the Democrat refer to the Maine law. The first article is a report of the State Temperance Convention, which with every body, excepting blackguards, will condemn itself. If the reporter imagined, that by calling an assembly composed of many of the most respectable men in the State, "a menagerie," the whole business of whose leading spirits was, "to stir up the animals, and exhibit their propensities to the multitude," he could make people believe so, he must have great confidence in the effect of scurrility, and if he thinks that denouncing "three scores of ministers" as vile slanderers of "a convention composed of the first talent and most exalted patriotism in the State," [such as Shepard, Carey and Joshua Carpenter, for instance,] he will bring much capital into his concern, he wonderfully miscalculates. We think "the staid, dignified, eloquent and useful ministers of the State and particularly of the city," who "gave but little countenance to the proceedings," must feel complimented by the flattering notice they have received from this villifier.

We quote one very amusing passage from this report, to show in how high estimation the writer holds the business in which he is himself engaged. He says,

"A portion of the Rev. politicians [who slandered a convention composed of Joshua Carpenter, &c.] went into an elaborate argument to prove that they had a right to dabble in politics. Whoever denied them the right? The Constitution guarantees the right to them as to other citizens. So it is not a question of right at all. They have other rights besides this. Any minister has the right to keep a bowling saloon, and roll the balls and set up the pins himself, if he chooses. He has a right to keep a billiard table. He has the right to keep race horses; or to open a broker's office for the shaving of notes. He has just as much right to engage in these employments as any private citizen."

If, as this reporter seems to suppose, politics are to be classed with horse racing and note-shaving, and no more important end is to be accomplished, through them, his argument is well, but if, as is generally understood, the welfare of the State is in a great measure dependent upon purity in its politics, it is important that every clergyman throughout the land should take part in them.

But we cannot waste any more space upon this report further than to say, that we are informed by gentlemen who were present at the convention, that it contains gross exaggerations and perversions of the remarks of speakers, which can be excused upon no ground, unless the reporter, feeling that a correct report would give the people a true idea of the Democratic party, and render their fate hopeless, thinks the end will justify the means.

In regard to the other articles in the Democrat relating to the Maine Law, we find nothing in them worthy of any further notice than we have given them; and this report we should not have referred to except to show our readers to what baseness people will sometimes resort when they have no decent ground to stand upon.

The Democrat says we labor to establish the point, that the Maine Law is the issue in the pending election. We have not said, nor intended to be understood, that the Whig party have made this issue. Upon that point we have said nothing, but we have said, and do insist that the facts warrant us in the assertion, that the late Democratic Convention in Bangor, intended to make the Maine Law the issue at the approaching election. It is well known, that Mr. Cary, in a speech in the Senate last winter, announced that that was the issue between the parties, and it is just as well known that the sentiments of Cary and Pillsbury and their friends are identical upon that point. When Mr. Pillsbury's nomination was secured, the Hon. Joshua Carpenter, one of the leading spirits of the convention and a prominent friend of Mr. Cary—a man who had proclaimed undisputed in the convention that the object of the convention was the repeal of the Maine law—expressed himself satisfied with the nomination, and pledged himself to sustain it!

And we further say, that with the majority of the members of that Convention and their friends, the Maine law is now understood to be the issue, and that it is almost the only question which will be prominently kept in view during the coming campaign. To say otherwise is simply ridiculous.

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

Montreal, July 26, 1853.

This is an old city which more than any other on the continent, perhaps, feels the full stimulus of the activities of the age in the improved facilities for travel by railroads, and for conducting business by means of steamboats, canals, and other public improvements. In its enterprises and business energies, its population and its trade, its excitements and its hopes, it is a new city, rapidly forming itself to the commercial idea which even more than politics or religion, seems destined to govern the world.

The relation of this city to the mighty waters of the St. Lawrence, early led to a wise reservation of the shore as a public landing and roadway, unobstructed by buildings, and this has been improved on the part of the government by the erection of massive stone walls and mitre piers and slips, giving the finest and easiest access to the water's edge from the road side, while the opposite side of the road is occupied by long ranges of buildings of cut stone, a building material which is abundant in the vicinity, and easily worked, and appears very much like granite. Among these buildings are conspicuous, the Market House and Custom House. There are also hotels and stores of large dimensions, and making altogether one of the most extensive and elegant water fronts to be found in the country. All this is eminently appropriate and necessary for a city having so great an interest in the extensive and constantly increasing trade and business of the St. Lawrence, the home of so many large rivers, and all of which and by the capital and skill of these times becoming more and more important and useful.

We have within a few days had a favorable opportunity of examining most of the public improvements on the St. Lawrence, and some of its principal tributaries, along a distance of nearly five hundred miles, and have made ourself acquainted with some of the influences of these improvements upon business, and we have become very strongly impressed with the great importance to Maine of the opening of the Atlantic and St. Lawrence Railroad by which Portland is placed in business connection with this focus of trade and travel. That road has been opened but a few days, and yet large quantities of goods have reached this city from Portland, and a regular trade has commenced. Surprise is expressed here frequently at the number of Maine people who are seen here, and they will be more surprised farther down the river, by and by, when they learn that the Timber King, N. G. Noyes, and our fellow citizens Hon. Cyrus S. Clark and Wm. H. McCrillis, and their associates, have obtained grants of land from the government, and secured by purchase in all timber lands, laden with the finest timber, to the amount of some six hundred miles square; and are erecting mills and improving rivers, and getting ready to show what can be done in the way of genuine Yankee lumbering, on "go ahead" principles.

Our readers may, perhaps, be more interested in a description of the city than in these facts and reflections, but we have little taste and less skill in painting cities in words, and can only undertake to give a brief outline of some of the prominent features. The most commanding building in the city is the French Catholic Cathedral, built of hewn stone, in the upright Gothic style. It is probably the largest church edifice on this continent, and has two very high square towers, which overlook the city, and make a very imposing and graceful appearance. The interior of the church is handsomely finished, and is adorned with numerous paintings, and altars, confessionals, wood and silver images of the Saviour on the Cross, and various other matters connected with and belonging to the Roman Catholic Church. It seems to be a place of perpetual devotion, for at all times there are lights burning, and persons at their devotions, passing along from point to point, now crossing themselves, then prostrating and ejaculating a brief prayer, here bowing to some image, and there again stopping to pray and handle their beads, and dip their finger into the holy water. It is not for us here to analyse this matter in the attempt to estimate its true value. As we saw those bowed down with age, and who apparently had long suffered the pangs of pinching poverty, thus devoting a bright hour of the day, in seeming solitude, we will not deny that the fact, amidst so many outward representatives of the things signified by the life, death and mission of Jesus Christ, was impressive.

There are several churches here of handsome appearance, and several of them capable of seating from two to seven thousand persons.

The banks and public institutions, are large and handsome stone buildings; as also the hotels, &c. The former Parliament House, which was destroyed, a few years since by the mob, exasperated at the passage and approval of an act indemnifying the losses on account of the revolutionary movements in Canada, is now being repaired and rebuilt as a Court House, and will make a very handsome appearance, and is quite extensive.

At the time of the destruction of this building by force and fire, the public Library of the Province was burnt, and the large and costly painting of Victoria, Queen of England, was scorched, but heroically saved, and now adorns the new Parliament House at Quebec. The Governor General rendered himself so unpopular with the people of this city by approving the bill referred to, that he was pelted with eggs, and what was then his truly princely residence, a few miles from the city, with its extensive park of oak trees, and its fruit and flower garden, is now kept as a public house and pleasure ground, at "sixpence" admission for a single horse and carriage, payable in refreshments at the bar! The Governor is himself to-morrow to visit Bytown and Aylmer on the Ottawa river, for the purpose of examining the public works for the improvement of the navigation of that river, and for this purpose he must pass through this city, but in order to do so in as quiet a manner as possible, he was to leave Quebec on this evening, and will reach here at an early hour to-morrow morning, and passed at once by carriage conveyance to Lachine by railroad, and thence by the steamboat to St. Anne's, where he will enter the Ottawa, which he will ascend as far as Aylmer, a distance of something over one hundred miles. We had the pleasure of seeing his Excellency a few days since, and shall try to get out in the morning to observe his landing.—The people up the river, we know are prepared to give him a cordial reception, but whether from political regards or a regard to further expenditures for public improvements in that vicinity, we are not informed. From some little discussion we heard at a preliminary meeting in the interior, some days since, to agree upon an address to be delivered to him on his visit, we are of opinion that the motive is somewhat mixed. Yours.

For the Whig and Courier.

Mr. Editor:

I noticed in the last number of the Democrat a report, purporting to be the substance of remarks, made by me, at the state temperance convention, held in this city. That report is very inaccurate in some particulars, and makes an impression entirely different from what I designed. I will not impugn the motives of the reporter, but simply present the substance of what I then said; not that I regard it of great importance to your readers, but that I may not be placed in a false position.

When the Maine Law first went into operation, its effects were very salutary, closing up the most of the grog-shops, so that none sold openly. Matters went on thus for several months; but in consequence of certain circumstances, the friends of the law relaxed somewhat their exertions; and as they relaxed, the dealers became bold and displayed their bottles and glasses. The circumstances to which I refer were the neglect to execute judgment on offenders after conviction—the granting of Supersedeases—the decision of Judge Curtis against the unconstitutionality of some provisions of the law, &c. Consequently more is now sold in this city, than during the first year of the operation of the law; but probably not one fourth of the amount which would be, if the law did not exist. I regarded the amount sold now, owing in a great measure to the inefficiency of the Police. It is in their power to seize liquors intended for sale in the most of the taverns and many other places in this city, at any hour, yet I am not aware that any public house has been searched or any keeper convicted for several months. I stated also that the friends of temperance did not succeed at the last municipal election in securing a government so strongly in favor of the law as the one immediate preceding, not because public sentiment had retrograded, but that question was not in issue. While I did not think those who had the execution of the law in charge did all they could and ought, I thought there were difficulties in the way of execution. One was the influx of foreign population while various and great enterprises are being prosecuted in our city and vicinity. Another reason was, so many persons are interested pecuniarily, politically, socially, and by appetite, in the continuance of the sales. To illustrate this fact, I related an incident, where the government failed to convict the culprit in consequence of the benefits resulting to the jury by his continuing in crime. This was related in extenuation of the city government and Police, but the reporter applies it so as to condemn the government.

He makes me to use the following language "The city government was so constituted, in regard to their sympathies with, and business relations to certain offenders that it was out of the question to think of getting them to favor a rigid enforcement of the law. He would relate an anecdote in illustration of the point."

I used no such language and could not possibly, I think, have conveyed any such idea. All the relation the anecdote had to the city government was to show the difficulty of their executing the law, so as to prohibit entirely the sale. This part of the report is in keeping with another viz:—There were about three hundred present, mostly women and children. I verily believe, however, that the grog-shops can be closed up with the present law judiciously and vigorously applied. It is done in other places; and why not in Bangor? If the present Police do all that can be reasonably expected of that number of men, and still the evil exists to a great extent, why not increase the number? Three fourths of the people, I think, wish the law executed, and are willing to be taxed to defray the expenses. And well they may be, for they would make money out of the operation.

The facts in the case appear to me to be these. An evil exists in the city. A law has been enacted by the Legislature which, it is almost universally conceded, if properly applied, will remove it. But it is not removed, hence the power applied is not adequate. Let then a change be made in quality or quantity, as the case may demand in the Police, till it is adequate to meet the emergency. The people ought and will sustain such a measure.

The Lemon Importers which have been pending in the Supreme Judicial Court for sometime past, were summarily disposed of yesterday morning by the entry of a nol. prosequi in every case. It seems that upon the continued docket there were some forty indictments against liquor venders which indictments together with the Clerk's old docket, had been purloined from his office something like six weeks ago. This is a novel method of disposing of cases. In some of the cases, however, new bills were found by the Grand Jury at its recent session. There were sly winks and nods about the Court, the Judge looked puzzled, prosecutors blanks, and the indicted excessively happy, as they took their leaves departure from the halls of justice.

Thrilling Incident.

About a week ago, a party of young gentlemen went out bathing. The spot selected was a large Mill-pond in the county of Bedford. The pond was about fifteen feet deep. After swiming about for awhile, four of the party got into a rickety old boat and attempted to paddle across the pond. Of these four, two had just learned to swim: the third could not swim at all; the fourth, Mr. L., was an excellent swimmer. They had gotten about fifty yards from shore when the boat began to sink, and there occurred the most thrilling scene it was ever our lot to record. Mr. L., in hopes that the boat might sustain one, jumped out and told those that could to do the same. They did so and made for the shore, leaving Mr. L. alone with the young man who could not swim. Seeing that the boat must sink, Mr. L. said, "W., keep perfectly cool, do just as I bid you; but if you suffer yourself to become frightened we will both be drowned, for I will never leave you." Hardly had he spoken the words when down went the boat and Mr. L. seizing his companion, who displayed almost as much coolness as himself by the hair with one hand commenced swimming for the shore. He had proceeded but a short distance when he became fatigued, and attempted to relieve himself by changing his position. In doing so he had to let go of his companion, who instinctively clasped him and both instantly sank to the bottom. Perfectly self-possessed, Mr. L. inflated his lungs before going down and as they arose, he rewed his grasp upon W. and again struck out for shore. He had gotten about half way, when he again became fatigued, and down they went a second time, Mr. L. inflating his lungs as before.—Still perfectly cool, as they reached the surface he for the third time renewed his effort to reach the bank, and for the third time they both sank to the bottom. Finding that he had no longer strength to swim Mr. L., while under the water, his lungs still full of air and his intellect undisturbed, attempted to push W. to the shore. As he did so he struck a stump and from the stump and bar led to the edge of the pond, just where the other members of the party were standing, paralyzed with fear. To get upon the stump, to raise W out of the water and to call for assistance was the work of a moment. They were saved. Too much praise cannot be awarded to Mr. L. for the cool courage and magnanimity displayed on this occasion; not a W. undeserving of credit, for although completely strangled with water, and barely conscious, he still resolutely obeyed the instructions of his preserver; and thus owing to the self-possession of the one and the obedience of the other, they were enabled to save themselves from an untimely death.

New Silver Coinage. The Director of the Mint, under the sanction of the 7th section of the act of March 3, 1853, authorizing new devices for the silver coinage of the United States and with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, invites the co-operation of artists, engravers, and other persons of taste, to aid him in effecting that object, and requests such as may be so disposed to forward to him before the first day of October next, such designs as they may deem appropriate to that coinage. The law imposed no restrictions in relation to the devices. An impartial examination will be made of the designs which may be furnished in accordance with this request; and for those three which shall appear best fitted to the object in view, a competent and liberal remuneration will be made.

Kent Jail.—The jail in this county has but one occupant, and he intends leaving as soon as he has cipered through all the arithmetics in town. The reception room has a fine collection of native birds stuffed and also two live rattlesnakes. The poor debtors room is used for drying "yabs," and also contains a grizzly bear and a two headed calf. The bear would swear out—and swear every body out, too—but can't raise the money to cite his creditors who are certain wealthy owners of sheep in California. [Kent County Atlas.]

A Female Sailor. A schooner belonging to Harwick, came into Salem harbor one day this week, with a female he-man who performed the duty with as much grace and apparent ease as could any veteran tar. We understand that she has been in the habit of going to sea with her vessel, and that during any temporary indisposition of her "worser half," she performed his duties in a manner satisfactory to all concerned, especially "the owners." Such a woman is a worthy helpmeet.—Salem Freeman.

Portland.—The total number of adult males in Portland is 5238; aliens 783; legal voters 4455. The Portland papers argue from this that the population has largely increased since 1851.

The triumphant success of the great Arabian remedy for man and beast, H. G. FARRELL'S

Celebrated Arabian Liniment,

is causing counterfeits to spring up all over the country, spreading their baneful influence over the land, robbing the pockets of the honest and unsuspecting, by imposing upon them worthless and poisonous trash, for the genuine H. G. Farrell's Arabian Liniment. Fellow citizens look well before you buy, and see that the label of the bottle has H. G. before F. Farrell's, for if it has not it is counterfeit. The Label around each bottle of the genuine Liniment reads thus, "H. G. Farrell's Celebrated Arabian Liniment; and the signature of the proprietor is written upon the label also, and these words are blown in the glass bottle, "H. G. Farrell's Arabian Liniment, Peoria."

The daring goldness of the recreant who would deceive the people by imposing upon them worthless trash for a really genuine and good medicine, thus not only cheating them out of their money, but that which is far dearer—their health—ought to be held up to scorn, and receive all contempt his castardly spirit merits. Let every one then who regards his own health, and wishes truth and honesty to triumph over deception and rascality, publish to all base impositions, and uphold that which is just and right. The genuine H. G. Farrell's Arabian Liniment has proved itself to be the most remarkable medicine known for the cure of rheumatism, lumbago, pains wherever located, sprains, bruises, hardened lumps, burns, wounds, corns, chronic sore and weak eyes, lame back, etc., etc., and is an effectual remedy for horses and cattle in the cure of sweeney, distemper, anemia, cry shoulder, spavin, wounds, etc., etc., and will always stop the further progress of poll evil, fistula, ringbone, and blood spavin, if used in the beginning.

LOOK OUT FOR COUNTERFEITS.

The public are cautioned against another counterfeit which has lately made its appearance, called "H. B. Farrell's Arabian Liniment, the most dangerous of all counterfeits, because in having the name of Farrell upon it will put in good faith, without the know ledge that a counterfeit exists, and they will perhaps only discover their error when the spurious mixture has wrought its evil effects.

The genuine article is manufactured only by H. G. Farrell, sole inventor and proprietor, and wholesale druggist, No. 17 Main Street, Peoria, Illinois, to whom all Orders for Agencies must be addressed. Be sure you get with the letters H. G. before Farrell's, thus—H. G. FARRELL'S—and his signature on the wrappers, all others are counterfeits.

Sold by INGRAHAM & FULLER, wholesale and retail, Bangor. Also by R. F. Kimball, Oldtown. Freeman & Hamilton, Dexter. Geo. Fletcher, Ellsworth. F. S. Flaherty, Houlton. And by regularly authorized agents throughout the United States.

☞ Price 25 and 50 cents, and $1 per bottle.

Light Houses.—The Sandwich Advocate states that Josiah Foster, of that town, has been appointed by Lighthouse Board to visit the lighthouses on this coast (each one we suppose) to ascertain their condition, to make all necessary repairs and improvements in the lights, and to give such practical instructions to lighthouse keepers will enable them to discharge their duties properly. Advocate adds that Mr Foster is eminently qualified for the service, and doubts whether a man can be found in the Union having more scientific and practical knowledge of the subject.

[For the London Times.]

A number of scientific gentlemen assembled yesterday at the house of Dr. Turnbull, in Russell square, to witness the results produced by a process recently discovered by the Doctor, and applied for the cure of deafness and blindness. Between twenty and thirty patients attended, many of whom, it was stated by their parents, had been born deaf and dumb. The sufferers submitted to various tests, by which they proved their deafness had been cured by the application of Dr. Turnbull's remedies, and what appears most singular is, that whether the disease depended on the paralysis of the auditory nerve, impure of the tympanum

SEWING MACHINE!

Secured by Two Distinct Patents!

THESE extraordinary Machines have had numerous diplomas and medals awarded to them, as the best sewing machines ever devised. They now form one of the most attractive features of the Great Exhibition at the Crystal Palace in New York.

The proprietors having perfected their great manufactory in New York, are now able to produce the Machines at a cheaper rate, and have determined to give the benefit to the public, by reducing the price $25. Hereafter these unrivalled machines will be sold at either of our regular offices for $100 Cash, without deduction or discount.

Of the admirable qualities of these Machines for all the work of the Clothier, Tailor, Shoe Manufacturer, Saddler, Carriage Trimmer, Cap Maker, and Corset Maker, it is unnecessary to speak.—The character of the machines for these branches of business is established, and they are known and admitted to be the most perfect instruments for the purpose ever devised. The clear profit on each machine is from $600 to $1800 a year, depending on the fineness and difficulty of the work done.—We desire to call the particular attention of Shirt and Collar manufacturers to our machine for stitching fine linen and cotton goods. We can satisfy any person interested that no other machine has ever done or can do this kind of stitching perfectly. The price of the machine includes the necessary articles for using. When ordered, they are packed, complete for immediate use, and full printed directions for using are furnished.

Either of the Express companies, or merchants visiting the places where our offices are located, afford a convenient medium for purchasing machines.

Great Excitement!

Among Carriage Makers,

THE subscribers have purchased the right to make, use and sell

Everett's Patent Coupling

for the Counties of Penobscot, Piscataquis, Waldo, Hancock, Washington and Aroostook. The advantages of the above Coupling, over the old method of connecting the main part of the Carriage with the front part, is such that it must come into general use when it is properly understood. High forward wheels can be used, and we get rid of the galling irons, as the wheels do not strike the body, and the carriage turns in a very small compass, the hind wheels not describing more than 4 to 6 feet circle. It is perfectly simple, and not so liable to get out of order as the old method. Those who have used the above are fully satisfied of its utility, as certificates below show. It can be attached to old carriages at a small expense, and we are prepared to sell the right for shops, towns, and would sell a part of the above named Counties, at such a rate that any smart man, with a small capital, could realize a great profit from the sale of the above. Any person wishing information will receive immediate attention at our place of business, or by dropping us a line by mail, post-paid.

We have leave to refer to Messrs I. J. Norcross, Chase & Littlefield, and C. S. Coe, Esq., who are using the same. D. W. MORRILL & CO. Corner of York and French streets. Bangor, July 22, 1853

This certifies that we, the undersigned, have examined Everett's Patent Coupling and think it an excellent improvement, and have bought rights for using the same.

Self Acquired Fame!

DR. JOHNSON'S AMERICAN ANODYNE LINIMENT,

For Internal and External Use.

THIS wonderful Medicine notwithstanding it has never had the advantage of newspaper publicity, has yet acquired a higher and more extended popularity than any other similar compound in the world It is entirely a vegetable extract, perfectly safe to be administered even to the most delicate child and alike as astonishing and salutary in its effects on man or beast In those unacquainted with the invaluable medicine we say Give it a fair trial and we promise you a radical cure of Coughs Colds Asthma Bronchitis Whooping Cough Influenza Spitting of Blood and all Lung Complaints, Chronic Diarrhoea and Dysentery in all of which cases it should be used internally The effects of its external application in cases of Rheumatism, Spinal Diseases Sprains, Chapped Hands Bruises Burns and all descriptions of wounds are magical Persons troubled with Cramp in the Stomach Side or Bowels, Sore Throat, Piles &c by a combined internal and external application of this Anodyne, can not fail of certain and speedy cure The proprietor can produce volumes of testimonials in its favor but prefers to let it carry its own recommendations as it has done for forty years past We ask no man to use it after an unsatisfactory trial In its composition it unites several of the most penetrating and healing specifics known to the materia medica—The inventor of this article was in the constant and successful practice of medicine for more than twenty years

This is to certify that having been troubled for a number of years with a disease of cough and bleeding at the lungs and receiving no benefit from medical aid in 1845 I was to all appearances in the last stage of consumption My legs swelled so that I was unable to stand or attend myself At that time your Liniment was given me and I recommended to me and by the use of three or four bottles I was entirely cured and have since been able to labor every day The cure of the disease now for nearly two years has been pronounced by disinterested persons and never found any permanent relief until I took your Liniment, since which I have had no return of the complaint I can truly say I think your Anodyne Liniment was the means of saving my life JOHN T ATKINS

Brewer, Sept 29 1852

Dr Johnson Dear Sir—In consequence of having a severe cough my lungs became entirely stiff at the inner end it was decreed by the best surgeons that my leg must be amputated—but fortunately I heard of your Anodyne Liniment, and by using three bottles my leg was saved and strengthened so that I have not a number of years I have been able to use the foot as well as the other I can assure myself indebted to the use of your Liniment for the preservation of my leg and would say to others who may need help in this way try it, and no doubt you will be cured
